

Global Young Leaders Course Content

Our Global Young Leaders course, now in its eighth year, combines critical thinking and debating. The course is aimed at students with an Upper-Intermediate to native speaker level of English and any level of public speaking and debating.

This two-week programme helps young people to improve confidence in public speaking and to provide a deeper understanding of important world issues. The course is taught by experienced debating coaches from top universities.

Students are mentored in developing arguments, applying persuasive techniques, and expressing their ideas to convince any audience.

Each day, lessons focus on global themes such as politics, economics and law, providing the framework within which students can explore the policies and ideologies that influence the world around them.

The international perspective of our students, based on their diverse backgrounds, enriches the understanding of the group as a whole.

I had a really great time at Global Young Leaders. The classes, the competitions and the excursions were fun and I really hope to go back next year. I had the best time of my life in those two weeks.
